Seminarians Tape Radio Show

Deacon Quinn Mann was joined by seminarians Joe Fleischman, Adam Campbell and Mike Warden as they discussed their call to the diocesan priesthood. The show is scheduled to air on the Relevant Radio network on Friday, March 3 from 10 to 11 AM. Tune in to 1050 AM to hear their stories.

Men's Discernment Group Offers Support for Answering the Call

Men are gathering on the First Friday evening of each month to pray together, eat together, discuss their faith, and support one another as they consider God's call to the priesthood. The Catholic Men's Discernment Group has been meeting monthly since October. Men, college age or older who are open to the possible call to priesthood, are most welcome.

Jason Hawman and seminarian Dan Schuster talk at a recent Discernment Group.

Recent months have included discussion on prayer, discernment, women in the Church, and seminary life. Men find it helpful to connect with others who are also considering the possibility of priesthood.

Those interested in vocations are encouraged to invite men to the group, which is held at the Ecumenical Center at UW-Green Bay. The next group will be Friday, March 3, beginning at 6:30 PM. Fr. Tom Long leads the group. Contact him for more information.
